New Regulations For Zoning Applications

A major revision of procedures covering zoning applications and hearings was adopted Friday by the Prince George's County Commissioners.

The new ordinances have been the subject of both public hearings and intensive discussion between the Commissioners and members of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission. They incorporate virtually every request made by citizen and professional groups in the past two years.

A key section limits the filing of all applications for zoning changes to the months of January and July. This twice a year limitation on filing is designed to both facilitate the work of the Park and Planning Commission and other County departments which must review all applications, and to make it easier for citizen groups to keep abreast of proposals for development in their areas.

Specific regulations concerning posting of property which is proposed for zoning change have been spelled out, and call for posting at least 20 days prior to the days of hearing by both the Park and Planning Commission and County Commissioners "in such a manner as to be clearly visible" and near all improved roads abutting the property "so as to be most readily seen by the public."

The new ordinance also prohibits re-filing of zoning applications for 18 months after any Board action and if a property has been twice considered by the Board an applicant must wait 24 months before reapplying.

Incorporating the law as re-written by the last Maryland Legislature, the ordinance provides that reports on zoning applications made by the staff of the Park and Planning Commission will be transmitted to that Commission, with a formal recommendation by the Commission then passed to the County Commissioners, who have the final zoning authority.

However, a formal policy statement recently issued by Chairman Frank J. Lastner of the Board of County Commissioners and Chairman William J. Stevens of the Park and Planning Commission provides that staff reports will be made available, upon written request, to any civic group or individual citizen at any time prior to Commissioners' hearing on a zoning application. These reports may be inserted in the official record by either applicant or those opposing the application.

Post Office To Close Jan. 1

Postmaster Emory A. Harmon announced today that New Year's Day, January 1, 1964, shall be observed as a legal holiday at the Greenbelt Post Office.

No window service will be provided.

No city deliveries will be made. Special delivery mail will be delivered promptly.

Holiday schedules for the collection, receipt, and dispatch of mail will be observed.

Citizen Help Asked For Urban Renewal Comm.

The Urban Renewal Committee of the Advisory Planning Board is desirous of augmenting its group with other Greenbelt citizens who have an interest in future urban renewal problems for the community. Its problems might include renovation of the GHI frame houses, or possibly the commercial Center.

Those interested should contact the Chairman of the Urban Renewal Committee John W. Gibson, 1-F Gardenway, or phone 474-4951.

Springhill Notes

by Marion Weston, 474-1076

Last year at this time Springhill Lake was a dense dark forest, but this holiday season finds the darkness illuminated by the brightly colored lights framing the many windows with messages of holiday cheer.

Springhill Lake Community House will be the center for festivities planned by Management's Social Director Mr. Eugene Morrill, starting with the tree lighting ceremony on Wednesday evening. On Friday, December 20 at 6:30 p.m. there will be a children's party at which time movies will be shown. A holiday "Open House" is scheduled for Sunday, December 29.

Residents of Springhill Lake can start their list of New Year resolutions by attending the monthly meetings of the Springhill Lake Citizens Association, which meets the first Wednesday of each month. Social activities will include an ice skating party, details of which will be given at the January 1 meeting at the Community House.

It is reassuring to know that the WMA bus, with a 10c reduction in fare available from the office only, has a daily schedule to take you to D. C., Beltway Plaza, Greenbelt Center or NASA to work or to shop for that last minute gift.

Recreation Review

by Richard Stevenson

If you enjoy watching Basketball, take an evening away from the mad Christmas rush and come to the Youth Center Thursday, December 19. The Men's Basketball League will play two games; first one at 7:30 p.m., second will follow immediately. Your enthusiasm for Basketball is the only admission charged.

Mrs. Boggs will hold Arts and Crafts for elementary children on Monday and Tuesday, December 23 and 24, from 3:30 - 5 p.m. Cost is only for the materials used.

Free Show for Children

By popular demand, two free performances of Hansel and Gretel, will be staged at Roosevelt High School Auditorium, 13th and Upshur Streets, N.W. on December 21st at 3:00 P.M. and 22nd, at 3:30 P.M.

The children's fairy-tale opera by Humperdinck, returning after playing to turn away crowds two years ago, is being presented by the Washington Civic Opera Association sponsored by the D. C. Recreation Department, and the Retail Clerks International Association.

For further information call Frank Cady, AD 4-2050 Ext. 9.

Monday Deadline for Copy

The deadline for News Review copy for next week will be Monday, December 23. Because of the Christmas holiday, the News Review office will be open on Monday night, instead of Tuesday night. All copy should be turned in by 9:30 p.m. Monday. The paper will appear on Thursday, as usual.

Housing Center Exhibits Model City in Finland

Greenbelters, as residents of one of the Nation's first planned communities, will be interested in an exhibition of Tapiola, a new suburban community in Finland, now on view through December 29 at the National Housing Center, 1625 L Street, N. W. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily and on weekends from 1 to 6 p.m. Admission is free. The Center will be closed Christmas Eve and on national holidays.

The new town of 17,500 people, a satellite of Helsinki, was recently completed after a decade of building. Among over a score of European post war new towns, Tapiola is thought the most architecturally significant. It has received wide acclaim from international critics.

A fundamental design principle of Tapiola is a determination to preserve its natural setting for the common good. More than half of all the housing is in apartments overlooking the Gulf of Finland. Great architectural variety is achieved. A separate designer has planned each of more than a score of communities that make up the town.

This modern version of garden city design aims at a low density of 26 persons per acre. Automobile traffic has not been allowed to dominate. The national enthusiasm for outdoor recreation is expressed in summer and winter sports, but this new suburban ideal is above all a strong visual statement.

City planners and architects have hailed this community as an ideal example of a satellite town — not a suburb. More than 50% of the residents are employed in the community, at all economic levels. Tapiola has ideally integrated the single family residences, "tower apartments", community centers, parks, cycling paths, and roadways. Managed by a private foundation, the facilities and services are owned by the dwellers, and dwellings are 90% owner-occupied.

Council To Explore Obtaining Site Near Post Office For New Library

by Russ Greenbaum

The location of a site for a new library and the perennial problem of GHI court parking were the major items discussed by city council at its regular meeting last Monday, December 16. Council also accepted a report from the Recreation Advisory Board.

on the poor condition of several

Charles McDonald, the new chairman of the Advisory Planning Board, presented a report on a study made by the APB in which it recommended that the city obtain the 7500-square foot parcel of land on the center mall just north of the post office. The property is presently owned by Greenbelt Consumer Services (GCS).

The APB report pointed out that the location conformed with the city's planning goals, which aim at concentrating recreational, cultural, civic and commercial activities at the Center. It was also pointed out that the site had ample building, and would permit later expansion. Also, parking was available.

Two other sites were given serious consideration, one between the Center school and the swimming pool, using Board of Education property and one on a line between the bank and the school on city property. Both were rejected because of their inadequate size and their detracting from the landscaping and openness of the area.

In the discussion it was brought out that both the newly formed Greenbelt Library Association and county library officials had concurred that the recommended site would be a desirable one for the proposed new library. Councilman Cliff Simonson moved that the city manager be directed to explore with GCS the possibility of the city obtaining the site for donation to the county library board, with the provision that the land would revert to the city if construction did not begin within two years — space for the proposed library could be granted.

The present asking price by GCS for commercial use of the land was given as $17,000. However, the Library Association is reported to have talked to GCS officials about swapping city land for the GCS land which would considerably reduce or eliminate the need for expenditure of funds by the city. The owner of Center commercial property now holds an option on the land, but this will run out shortly, and he has indicated no interest in purchasing the parcel.

APB Criticized

The APB report was criticized by Councilmen Bill Hoff and Dave Champion for not giving serious consideration to land adjacent to the Greenbelt Armory as well as some other sites, such as the property behind the statue on the mall and adjacent to the firehouse. McDonald said the site behind the statue was rejected because it was composed largely of land fill, which forced GCS to spend an extra $40,000 to construct a foundation when it enlarged the supermarket.

The other sites were considered to be too far away from the Center and did not conform to the objective of making a library convenient to use while shopping. Parking would also be a problem since additional land would be needed for that purpose. McDonald also stated that he had been opposed to the Post Office site originally but had become convinced that no other site was suitable.

Champion reminded council of the long and involved negotiations with GCS when a previous swap of land was arranged, noting that GCS placed severe restrictions on the use of the land for other than its intended purpose. Champion warned that if the city obtained the land and a library was not built on it, the city might be stuck with property with serious limitations on its use. Hoff, who worried about the possible expansion of the postoffice (and was told that this had been explored and found not to be in prospect), said that he was basically in favor of library at the Center but he "just wanted to touch all bases."

Champion proposed that the city begin discussions with GCS on obtaining the site but stipulated that the motion should not refer to the separate matters of donation to the county library board or a limitation on its availability as a library site. This revised motion was passed by council. Mayor Ed Smith noted that the County Commissioners would also probably be brought into the picture since they provide the funds to build the library. The Mayor also pointed out that it was now up to the council to take further action, although the APB and the Library Association would be kept informed of developments.

Parking

The parking problem involved the 60 court of Crescent where residents in 8 of the 10 units have requested that the parking spaces be assigned for individual use. (A city ordinance provides that this be done when 51 percent of a court requests it.) This court is unusual, however, in that there are presently more spaces than court units, and parking space has been no problem.

A complicating factor is that a large tree that "bleeds" or exudes sap overhangs 2 or 3 of the parking spaces, and residents have been reluctant to use these spaces because of the hazard to their cars. Claude Wimberly of 60-J Crescent, on whose property the tree stands, told council that his neighbors have resented the tree and his determination to keep it. He connected the parking assignment petition, which he did not sign, with this resentment.

City manager James Giese said he was reluctant to assign spaces since it would force cars now using the court to park on Crescent Road, creating a hazard for drivers not used to cars parked there. He noted that he could create as many as 14 parking spaces in the court by eliminating two walkways and would prefer to do this rather than assign individual spaces.

A compromise was suggested by McDonald, former city manager of Greenbelt, when the parking policy was established. He noted that a parking space could be assigned to each unit, with the remaining space, including the area under the "bleeding" tree, left unmarked for general use. Council immediately accepted the suggestion and passed it on to Giese.

Other Matters

The Recreation Advisory Board report on city playgrounds, prepared by a subcommittee chaired by Mrs. Elaine Skolnik, found the following play areas in poor condition — 1 Research (which is in such bad condition that it may require relocation), 62 Ridge (from which the city manager announced the equipment has been removed, 24 Ridge - 48 Crescent, 44 Ridge, and 6 Plateau. The report will be studied by the Recreation Department and the manager in conjunction with the RAB to work out means of correcting the situation.

Council briefs: City employees will be granted a half-holiday the day before Christmas and the Day before New Year's Day even though employees of the Federal Government will not be getting the extra holiday this year. This departs from the policy of following the practice of the Government. . . . The city will explore the reconstruction of Edmonston Rd. between Springhill Lake and Greenbelt Road, with part of the cost to be borne by adjacent property owners. . . . Council agreed to advertise for bids for the purchase of its 2 city buses, both of which need major repairs to be placed in working order. The decision to sell the buses will depend on the bids that are received. . . . The city expects to move into the new municipal building sometime in January.

City Office Holiday Hours

The City Offices will be closed Christmas Day and New Year's Day, and the afternoons of Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

GHI Loses a Leader

With the resignation of Harry Zubkoff from the office of President of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., the corporation loses a steady and devoted hand on the wheel. His work and skill as presiding officer can only be appreciated by those who have observed him in action.

Taking over the presidency at a time when the board of directors was racked with internal dissension and when he himself was under attack as a partisan, he applied all his powers to preserve the decorum and orderly procedures that were expected of a governing body of a $7 million corporation. In the face of an atmosphere highly charged with insinuations and affronts of a personal nature, he bent backwards to assure the objectivity of the chair and fair play for all participants. His calm but assertive leadership in giving direction to the board's deliberations was a source of inspiration for GHI members and employees alike.

The pride with which he viewed the accomplishments of the corporation was no better mirrored than by his performance at the annual membership meeting in May. For a half-hour he held the close attention of the membership with a visual presentation of the corporation's financial position — a subject that rarely lends itself to such treatment.

It is only fitting that he saw his labors rewarded during the last six months of his office. The corporation joined ranks behind him, an atmosphere of harmony and reason was restored to the board, and vindictiveness and bitterness took a back seat. Harry Zubkoff resigns in the satisfaction that his successful steerage of GHI during this disruptive period has left the corporation on a more solid and unified basis than when he entered office.

Top Jazz Artists Star

A New Year's gift from the D. C. Recreation Department will be a free jazz concert featuring popular stars Charlie Byrd with his quartet, Tommy Gwaltney with his quintet, and the Lenny Cuje Combo.

The show, originally scheduled for November 22, will be staged at the Western High School, 35th and R Streets, N.W. on January 10 beginning at 8:30 PM. Master of ceremonies will be Bill Mayhew of radio station WOL.

No tickets are required for the evening of jazz and seats will go on a first come, first served basis.

School Construction Up

An expanded school construction program, costing $9,657,000, was approved by the Prince George's County Commissioners today, upon request of the Board of Education.

In a memorandum to the Commissioners, the school authorities pointed out that enrollment of students in the County's classrooms has risen even more than anticipated this year to a total of 90,373, or an increase of 8374 students in the current school year alone.

And, Superintendent William S. Schmidt predicts an enrollment will rise to nearly 100,000 pupils by the next school year, 1964-65, if the present trend continues.

Firehouse Facts

by Bob Mogel

The members of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad and Ladies have elected the following officers for 1964:

Pres. Joseph O'Loughlin; Vice Pres., John E. Snoddy; Secretary, Ernest Varda; Treasurer, Ben Kolbenschlag; Trustees, Marshall Zoellner, Paul Reamy, Robert Mogel, Joseph O'Loughlin, Walter V. Dutton, Paul Rousseau, John E. Snoddy.

Line Officers are: Chief Walter V. Dutton; Asst. Chief Robert Mogel, Capt. Fire Dept., John Fuston; Lt. Fire Dept., Vernon Iseli; Captain, Rescue Squad, George Clinedinst; Lt. Rescue Squad, Charles Jones; Trial Board, Henry Wynkoop and William D. Hissey.

Ladies Auxiliary Officers are: President, Patricianne Jones; Vice-President, Betty Wynkoop; Recording Secretary, Cleo Dutton; Corres. Secretary, Bonnie Balch; Treasurer, Peg Baldwin; Historian, Mary Frances Wiser; Chaplain, Jane Hunt, Sgt. at Arms, Toni Hunt.

For all of these men and women, there is nothing but self-satisfaction in their association, in return for their many long hours away from home.

Christmas decorations are on their way up at the firehouse, though the spirit at this time is rather subdued with the floodlight on the flag at half-mast.

The problem of which organization would occupy the Greenbelt Athletic Club building was nearly solved a few days ago when the defective oil burner got tired.

Look for the annual Burning of the Greens on Saturday, January 4, 1964, at the firehouse. Details later.

Six men recently graduated from the sixty hour course in Basic Firemanship. Their names: Ralph Percy, Russell Kerr, Michael Kerr, Brian Hunt, Paul Leibe, and H. A. Reynolds.

Boxwood is without water until at least February 1964, so we hope the lake doesn't go dry. We'll need it after we empty our tanks if anything occurs there. We hope that when hydrants are put in Boxwood, they will be placed where we requested. We hope!

"THE NAME'S THE SAME," an old familiar program, not only on TV but in Boxwood too. To someone high up: please listen to our plea to alphabetize these streets and keep the old Greenbelt numbering system as requested in October 1962 and re-requested in August 1963.

Holiday Reading For Juniors

by Margaret Paris
Greenbelt Librarian

You may want to have some time during the hectic, social holidays, time just for yourself, when you can curl up in a corner and read a book — not a text book, or assigned reading — but a book just to savor, for pleasure. We suggest a large chair, a good light, and a Do Not Disturb Sign. We have listed a few of the more recent books at the Branch.

Madeleine L'Engle — Three books

This may be an introduction for the reader who has overlooked Madeleine L'Engle's books (it was a mistake), or it may simply bring good news to the L'Engle fans in Greenbelt. Her latest book, The Moon By Night, is now on the shelves. It is a follow-up of Meet the Austins, one of the best family stories ever. The reader will feel that the Austins are genuine and must have been drawn from the author's own life. The Moon By Night brings the Austin family back, this time on a camping trip to California. This story is romantic and is mostly Vicky Austin's — how she faces what her parents call her "difficult year." This is a thought-provoking book. It touches on the most profound of a young person's ideas.

A Madeleine L'Engle book that has been a favorite of all readers, from children to adult science fiction fans, is last year's Newbery award winner, A Wrinkle in Time. It is many things — fantasy, science fiction, a very real family story, philosophy, and an out-and-out adventure (only here there is a "tesseract" involved). Meg and her brothers are memorable. This is a book that you will want to tell all your friends about.

Harry Dehn — The Faraway Lure

This is a rare book. It was inspired by an archeological find in a village in Denmark — the grave and body of the "Oakwood Girl" who lived more than three thousand years ago, in the early Bronze Age.

The author has written a mysterious and vital story of the girl's life as Heather Goodshade of the Forest People, and the life of Wolf Stone, the son of the barbaric Sun People, as he imagined them to be.

No more should be said on this one. We'll keep all the pages for the reader.

"Lure" are the great bronze trumpets used by the Sun People in their religious sacrifices.

Aimee Sommerfelt — Miriam

An exceptional story, translated from the Norwegian, this should appeal to readers of Anne Frank's diary. Miriam is a Jewish girl living in Norway during the Nazi occupation. She and her family are secretly housed by neighbors until they can attempt escape to the Swedish border. Miriam's story is interwoven with that of her Norwegian friend, Hanne. Both girls experience adventure, romance. Miriam suffers loss. This book will, of course, appeal mainly to girls, but boys would be interested also in the Norwegian Underground and in the closely-drawn characterizations of two of its members.

May the blessings of our Lord shine upon you

Food As Children See It

Meal times can be happy times if parents look at "Food As Children See It," points out Dr. Miriam Lowenberg in an 18-minute color film which illustrates some common problems and suggests practical solutions.

The nationally known food specialist stresses the importance of developing good eating habits early in life and points out that it is important for preschool children to learn to eat a variety of foods.

Some nutrition "Do's and Don'ts" are discussed as a child eats an ideal meal: Don't overwhelm a child with too large portions; a good "rule of thumb", the doctor says, is to give a child just a little less than he is expected to want, and he will ask for more if he needs it. Introduce new foods in small quantities. If a child dislikes a vegetable, try it as a finger food - such as carrot curls. Remove tough connective tissue from meats and cook at a low temperature so meat will not be too difficult for small teeth to chew. Delight the child with a surprise at the bottom of a dish - a bite-size piece of fruit.

Four and five year olds often find meals more interesting if allowed to serve themselves, and children who are offered a choice between two vegetables usually eat more of the one which they select.

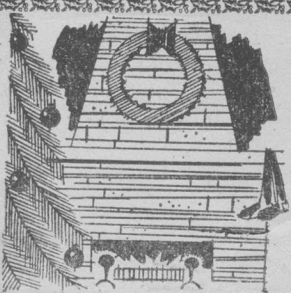

Dr. Lowenberg explains that children, like adults, may be too tired to eat after strenuous play and should have a brief rest period before eating. Mealtime, she emphasizes, should never be used to solve problems or to engage in long discussions of table manners; the best incentive to good manners, the nutrition authority states, is adult example.

The film is recommended for parents, child study groups, operators of day care centers and for anyone responsible for food preparation for preschool children and may be borrowed by Marylanders without charge from the film library, Health Education Services, 301 West Preston Street in Baltimore.

Suburban Trust Dividend

T. Howard Duckett, Chairman of the Board and Executive Committee, and J. Robert Sherwood, President of Suburban Trust Company with headquarters at 6495 New Hampshire Avenue, Hyattsville, announced that the Board of Directors at its regular meeting declared an extra-year dividend of 10c a share in addition to the 5c a share extra that has been declared for the last three quarters of this year.

The Board also approved that the 5c a share extra dividend which has been declared for the last 18 months, now be included in the regular dividend which has been 25c a share, thereby making a regular quarterly dividend of 30c a share. The aggregate dividend, including the regular and extra, for the year 1963 is equivalent to $1.30 a share, amounting to over $1,000,000 as a cash distribution to stockholders for the current year.

Marchal Fuller and Ed Keefe romped away with top honors at last Friday's duplicate bridge session. Their .634 score was .056 percentage points better than their nearest rivals, Robena Mathers and Adelaide Kaighn. Next game: Friday, December 27.

Calling all teens! Did you know that the Teen Club and Recreation Department has a program chock full of activities just for you? Why not drop in at the Youth Center any afternoon between 4 and 5:30 p.m. and find out for yourself what goes on with the teen-set. On Friday nights, dynamic Jackie Hufendick, director of the juniors, leads the peppy program while on Saturday nights, Thomas Collings, newly-appointed county leader, is busy working out a varied program for the seniors. Teen Club president, Steve Wimberly, the officers, and entire membership extend an invitation to all Greenbelt teens to come on down and have some fun!

It's a girl for Michael and Ann Sirk, 14-J Hillside. December 8 was the all-important date.

Best wishes for a happy birthday to Eva Garin, 10-A Hillside, who was 15 years old.

Happy-happy birthday to Nancy Weintraub, 25 Lakeside, who celebrates her sixth birthday this week.

David G. Palmerton, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Palmerton, 27 Woodlandway, recently reported for duty at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida. The air station provides the beginning phase for all Naval and Marine Corps student aviators.

Marine Private First Class Richard A. Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Skinner, 7-K Southway, participated in a one-day special exercise for the staff and officer-students of the Armed Forces Staff College and the National War College, when the schools visited Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. He is serving with the Third Battalion, Eighth Marine Regiment, Second Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force at Camp Lejeune.

Birthday greetings to Gail Boykoff, 2-C Northway, who celebrated her fourteenth birthday.

A speedy recovery to Mr. Jacob Koenig, 7-K Laurel, who has been ill.

Happy birthday to Mitchell and Naomi Parker. Mitch will be six and Naomi 14.

Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Barbara Covey, North End teacher, who lost her brother, James Davis last week.

Condolences to Mrs. Paul Olson on the death of her father, Benjamin L. Storey.

Our condolences to Pat Savage, 11-D Southway, who lost her mother.

Miss Washington asks:

Wouldn't someone you love love a Princess® phone for Christmas?

Wives and mothers. Girl friends and grandmothers.
They all love a regal touch.

And that touch is so easy to provide. Just arrange to introduce your special someone to royalty—the Princess telephone.

She'll love the Princess phone. It's little and lovely. And the dial lights softly at night. Available in white, beige, pink, blue, or turquoise. A perfect complement to any room for a very low cost.

Make yourself a promise now. Surprise her with a Princess phone. It's a royal way to show you care, and at the same time earn yourself a new title—Prince!

Rosanne Tueller, Miss Washington

G. I. BILL STUDENTS WILL RECEIVE CHECKS EARLY

Students in the Washington, D. C. Metropolitan Area colleges and universities attending school under the Korean GI and the War Orphans Education bills, will receive their December training allowance checks before the Christmas holidays begin — as they have in past years.

Arrangements have been made with the Treasury Department Regional Disbursing Office to mail training checks three days ahead of time, so that they will be delivered by mail before students depart for their Christmas vacations.

Normally, checks are mailed students so that they will arrive about the 20th of the month, according to C. W. Henry, Manager of the Veterans Benefits Office, 21st and Constitution Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Henry emphasized only training checks will be mailed early; pension and compensation checks to veterans and their dependents are expected to arrive at the regular time — about the first of January.
